| | "Work: When Is Enough E Exodus 20:8-11; Deuteronomy |
|---|--|
| | Refreshing Rest Come • When you |
| | |
| | |
| - | |
| | |
| | |
| • | When you |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |

Enough?" y 8:11-14, 18

es. . .

| • | When you | _God in your work. |
|---|----------|----------------------|
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| • | When you | _ God for your work. |
| | | |

Community Group Discussion

For the Week of February 10, 2019

| 1. | As you reflect on Sunday's sermon, what one principle or insight stands out as being particularly helpful, insightful, or difficult to grasp? |
|----|---|
| 2. | It is important to develop daily, weekly, and yearly patterns of rest. What would it look like for you to carve out intentional moments for personal rest in each of these areas? |
| 3. | Spend time as a group discussing how you can specifically bookend your work day with prayers expressing trust and thanksgiving for your work. Then pray as a group. |

| 4. | It is easy for us to pervert work by using it to prove our value or |
|----|---|
| | justify our existence. |

a. What can go wrong if we try to use our work in this way? If your comfortable, share your own temptations.

b. How does the gospel help us combat these temptations?

5. Read and reflect on Psalm 127:1-2. What principle or insight stands out to you?